Bandit Bungler

So you folks liked the true stories about the West that I done told you last time. Shows me that there be people who appreciate hearing stuff by a man who has lived through everything of the Old West. So just get a little closer folks. I don't want to shout at this time of the day. Man must be mighty careful how he uses his voice.

You niver heard of what happened way back in 1876? Yep, it was all my fault. Then I was so strong, I jist didn't know how powerful my own voice was. Some old timers will tell you I got plumbed riled on that day. Not a word of it is true, 'Cause when I git me mad, that's something else. Tell you about it later.

I was my ordinary self on the ranch. Sun was high up in the sky. Everything seemed peaceful. In fact I was stretchin' my shoulders when it happened. What happened? All I said was:

"Gee, it's a beautiful mornin'."

There was joy in my heart. But folks still claim I shouted at the top of my lungs. About twenty miles from the ranch was Mount Tipsee. Well, the words I said went down Echo Valley. So of course they got louder and louder. By the time they hit Mount Tipsee my words were a-boomin'. Yep, it was likely that the earth wasn't packed so tight. But all of a sudden Mount Tipsee starts to slide and slide and didn't stop until it was all leveled plumb down.

Now that was only part of it. Dave Gettem was having trouble rounding up his stock. When them critters heard my voice they all got scared. They ran round and round until they were tired. Then his cowboys just walked over to the critters and got them in line. Dave Gettem was so glad he rushed up to me.

"You have a job right now on the ranch. You can be a cow caller."

You folks heard about hog callers. So take a good look at me — the only cow caller in the entire West! So year after year, I did my cow calling stuff on Dave's ranch. His grandchildren now own it. They let me stay around. In about three months I have to call the cows again. But I must be careful. The K. P. & T. R. R. says I called so loud in 1883 that I derailed a train. They even offered me money to stop cow calling.

Guess you all know about my horse, Lazysee. He can run forwards, backwards, or even sidewards. I was in Dodge City one day when Sheriff Ketchum comes up to me with a proposition.

"Bandit Bungler and his men held up the stage again. Want to ride as shot gun messenger? You are the only man in the West who can help us. We'll give you a thousand dollars a trip. And if you get the stage through without losing the gold chest, we will give you ten thousand dollars more."

If you put that kind of money into single dollars it makes a big heap. Change it into silver half dollars and you got a bigger heap of money. I like pennies. So I told him if he would give me it in pennies I would take it. I like to give Indian pennies to good little Indian boys. Keeps peace on the reservation.

"You got some idea?" he wants to know.

"Bet I have," smiles me. "Every time that Bandit Bungler holds up the stage he uses the same trick. He moves a big rock or cuts a tree down. Then the stage must stop. I want to train the six horses that pull the stage."

You just kin't keep a secret in the Old West. It sort of leaked out that I had figured a plan to beat the man who niver had been a-beetin'. The stage road was private so nobody followed me. But on the plains they had set up seats. Thousands of folks from the territory were sittin' and a-watchin'. The company what made them seats certainly took in a heap of silver. Also the company what sold spy glasses made more silver.

For three hours, Harry Holdem was pushing those six horses along at full speed. We had everything arranged. Then sure enough there was a big tree. Did I say big? You heard about those giant trees they have in California? A train can go through them. Bandit Bungler sent out to the coast and brought one back. It was a lying across the path of the coach. For Bandit Bungler wasn't going to bungle this job.

"SippewippeedippeemeChee!" I shouted.

This was the signal. Harry Holden gives me the reins and grabs my shot gun.

"Now horses," I told them, "do your trick. The one I done learned you."

You could see it and not believe it. Them folks that watched me with spy glasses thought they had trouble with their eyes. For what did my horses do? They started to run backwards! They pushed the stage back on the road to Dodge City. Bandit Bungler, he got real mad. Niver had such a thing happened to him before. They had a rule that when you stopped a stage it had to stop. So they rode right on the road after the stage. My horses went faster backwards than forwards. Shows you how smart a backwards horse can be with the right training.

Folks, listen to me. Niver lose your temper. Know what took place? Bandit Bungler and his men forgot what they were doing and they landed right in Dodge City. Sheriff Ketchum and sixty three of his deputies were on hand to greet the tired hold-up men. Sad to tell you how it ended.

Bandit Bungler cried day and night in jail. He was heartbroken. He got thinner and thinner. Tried to crawl through the bars of the jail and got stuck between the sixth and the seventh bars. I tell you that crime doesn't pay. I was the hero of the day. However I insisted that full credit be given to my horse Lazysee what helped me train those other six horses.

Buffalo Bill offered me a big contract to do that stage coach trick in his Wild West Show. I was about to accept, when General Shoreham sent for me.

"Chief One Arrow is looking for trouble. Stop him before it begins."

So I said goodbye to Buffalo Bill and quickly saddled my horse. We were off to the plains. For two days and three nights we rode without a stop except to rest, wash, eat, sleep, cook, and sign autograph books. Reminds me, for fifty cents you kin have me sign your autograph book. Take home my name for your kiddies.

Finally I come to the Reservation. They were crowded and I should have made a reservation. But I got an old leaky Wigwam for three dollars a night.

"You could have sent a telegram," Chief One Arrow told me.

"No telegraph poles or wires to the reservation to send a reservation," I explained.

"No trick when they have poles and wires," he replied. "You do it without poles and wires."

Then I learned directly from Chief One Arrow all about the big contest. He had one arrow in his quiver. He had to shoot it at a brave. Get it back and shoot it at another brave. Keep it up until he shot twenty one braves in the shortest possible time. So far the record was eight minutes and ten seconds set by Chief Lyar back in 1853.

"But I mustn't hurt a brave," wailed the Chief. "How can do? Tell me? Washington no tell me yet. Why?"

So I told him to line up his twenty braves. Then I gave his son, Big Bow, a stop watch. All the tribes from north, south, east, west, north by east, west by south, and east by west, had sent special representatives to watch this contest. There was a rumor they were even betting heap much wampum on the outcome.

Chief One Arrow was about to take the arrow from his quiver when I made a quick change. You know those arrows that parents get for their kids? The ones with the rubber war heads? That was what I put into the quiver. The Chief took the arrow and fitted it to his bow.

"Now!" shouted his son.

He fired it once. The arrow hit a brave on the head and then bounced right back into the bow. So he was able to fire that arrow twenty times in three minutes four seconds. And not hurt a single brave. They were brave braves! Everybody cheered.

"Chief One Arrow is champ,

Chief One Arrow is champ," is what they chanted.

So folks, that is how peace came to the reservation. Now before you leave me, I have a big bargain for you. I'll sign my name in your autograph book and give you an arrow for the kid. All for the special price of seventy five cents. Never again can you git such a bargain. If you give me a dollar, then I will throw in for free, a nail from the right horseshoe of my famous horse.

WHAT'S MY SECRET?

"DYNAMIC TENSION" — that's my secret! It's the NATURAL method that I myself developed to change my body from the miserable skinny-chested weakling I was at 17 to my present "World's Most Perfectly Developed" body. Thousands have become marvelous physical specimens my way.

No gadgets, no contraptions. With "Dynamic Tension" you can laugh at artificial muscle-makers. You simply use the DORMANT muscle-power in your own God-given body. Before you know it, you're a NEW MAN — full of red-blooded get-up-and-go — healthy and handsome!

Why Be Half a Man?

. . . when it's so easy to become a real HE-MAN my natural way. Most fellows spend all of their lives feeling only HALF ALIVE. But you don't have to put up with that. Give yourself honest answers to these important questions. ARE YOU:

- Skinny and Run Down?
- Overweight and Short of Breath?
- Always Tired?
- Nervous?
- Shy and Lacking in Confidence?
- Slow at Sports?
- Do You Want to Gain or Lose Weight?
- Are you ashamed of your HALF-MAN build?

I tell you what you can do about these HALF-ALIVE symptoms in my valuable FREE Book. Pick the kind of body you want — right in the coupon below. Mail it to me personally and I'll rush you my free Book at once!
